Stark's oss on plutonium

WASHINGTON — Rep. Pete Stark's legislation to restrict air shipments of plutonium went down to final defeat in Congress Wednesday, though some of its intention was embodied in Congressional instructions that were approved. Controversey brewed early last summer when it was learned that plutonium is shiped into Livermore Airport.

Both Houses approved the House-Senate conference report on 1978 authorization for the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration civilian program. The final bill authorizes $6.2 billion, up from $5 billion for fiscal 1977.

It had recently been held up by controversey over the Breeder Amendment. Stark would have required the new Secretary of Energy to notify Congress anytime an air shipment of plutonium was to be made in current containers. His goal was to encourage the use of new, stronger containers now under develop-

ERDA complained that involvement of the Secretary would pose difficulties if he happened to be out of town. Further, it assured Congress that, contrary reports, it did plan to use the new containers for all - not just some air shipments. Upon that assurance, the conference committee struck the Stark Amendment entirely.

But it added to its report a statement that the new containers "shall be used for all (shipments) as quickly as possible.'

Stark D-Oak., had specified next Jan. 1 as the implementa-tion date. An ERDA spokesman said, Thursday, that Jan. 1 is still the target date.

ERDA also emphasized that air shipments of plutonium are now "extremely rare," having been "essentially discontinued" early this year. That discontin-uation has been widely attributed to bad publicity associated with such flights.

Historic pact agreement in Pleasanton

board members of the Pleasanton Joint School District have reached a tentative agreement on a contract for 1977-78, the first such agreement since the advent of collective bargaining almost two years ago.

The tentative accord came after a near day-long session that ended at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday

The representative council of the Amador Valley Teachers Association (AVTA) will discuss the contract terms and shape a recommendation to "accept" or "reject" next Tuesday. The recommendation will then go to the bargaining unit on the 27th. Tom Zach, president of AVTA during the many negotiations sessions of the past two school years, said a decision will be made by Monday on whether teachers will be asked to vote at their respective schools or at one central

A boost for building near Pleasanton

HAYWARD - A 1,500 home development proposed for Collier Canyon Road and three other subdivisions outside the Pleasanton and Liver-more city limits got a boost this week from a county planning com-mission recommendation.

Commissioners voted 5-3 to allow small, independent package sewage treatment plants for new developments in unincorporated areas.

It was a reversal of a staff recommendation which said the plants should be allowed only for existing residential areas that were having health problems with faulty septic

The commission's recommendation will go to the board of supervisors which has the final say.

If the policy stands, it will mean three developers on 400 acres on Collier Canyon Road next to Interstate 580 will have an easier time in creating their proposed 1,500 home development. They are unable to get sewer connections from Livermore for their 4,500 person community proposal. In fact, the Livermore city council opposed the county general plan amendment which allows the development. Supervisors approved it the same day they nixed Harlan Geldermann's proposed town of 45,000 persons next to Collier Canyon Road.

Other Valley areas approved on the general plan by supervisors were Carl Nipper's proposed 120 units on 440 acres on the Pleasanton Ridge; 193 acres owned by Conrad Moldt east of El Charro Road and south of I - 580, capable of taking up to 660 residential units; and 180 acres in the Martin - Trenery - Mohr Avenues area.

Water rates raised by wholesaler

Prospects of another drought year prompted Zone 7 directors to raise the price of water to Valley retailers by $8 per acre foot, a 6 per cent increase over the current $120 price.

If Pleasanton, Livermore, VCSD, and California Water Service pass the increase along to customers as expected, it would amount to a $4 per year increase on the annual water bill, according to Zone 7 Chairperson Gib Marguth.

Several board members at first advocated no increase in water rates, but Director Ed Kinney said that if voluntary rationing for another year cuts the amount of revenues to the district, some upward adjust-ment in price will be necessary. So the $8 increase was a hedge against another year of drought. The increase was much lower than the $24 and $44 increases suggested by staff. The latter was an especially conservative recommendation designed to pay off water treatment plant depreciation. Directors rejected that path two weeks ago, deciding that it amounted to this generation paying for next generation's water treatment plant.

On another item, Marguth revelaled that the Zone board plans to meet with county supervisors Nov. 16 to work out a basic agreement to give the Zone a semi - autonomous status within county government. The elected directors give it some independence, but those representatives want their own staff, not one hired solely by the county.

VCSD officials met with representatives yesterday morning to discuss the issue.

Those attending the seminar from VCSD were President Chuck Ladner, Director Lila Euler, Parks and Facilities Coordinator Waide Egener, Recreation Supervisor Brian May and Fire Chief Philip A. Phillips.

Agency representatives included Captain Dennis Jeffery, Alameda County Sheriff's Patrol Division; Virginia Loewe, administrative aide to Alameda county's first district Supervisor Valerie Raymond and Sergeant Joe Layton, Contra Costa County Sheriff's Department Investigation Division.

Also, Carolyn Hendrickson, San Ramon Crime Prevention Committee and secretary of the San Ramon Homeowners Association (SRHA); Dave Rezendes of Security Eye Patrol, Inc.; Tom Davis, vice-principal of Dublin High School and Bob Davis, vice-principal of California High School in San Ramon.

Jeffery and Layton said most of the crime in Dublin and San Ramon involved vandalism done

Jeffery said 25 juveniles in the Dublin area were causing 90 per cent of the crime in that locale. Another dozen, ages seven to eleven, were found vandalizing parked cars at 1 a.m., he added.

"When we called the parents, all insisted their kids were home in bed," Jeffery continued. "We asked the parents to please go check.

Those attending yesterday's seminar agreed the basic problem underlying juvenile vandal-ism originated with lack of parental care and control.

To fill this parental gap if it becomes necessary, they suggested the community as a whole should become aware of the problems involving juvenile vandalism and help solve them

Dale R. Burton of Oakland was apparently escaped from the jail sometime between 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and midnight. At 12:40 Wednesday morning the 6-foot-7 inmate was spotted walking east on highway shoulder in his white prison overalls by deputy Dave Di Franco who returned him to the ALAMO — Two Alamo area golf courses were vandalized last weekend by someone driving vehicles across the greens and fairways, according to Contra Costa sheriff's deputies.

The heaviest damage occurred at Diablo Country Club where the course superintendent estimated repairs would cost $4,000. It was suspected a disgruntled former employe might have caused the damage. Roundhill Country Club was also hit in another incident believed to have been unrelated to the first. Damage estimated at $1,500 was done to the 2nd fairway when an automobile was driven on it. A late model Chevrolet El Camino was spotted at the site.

But defining "reasonably" is up to the water board and it could mean anything, said Tirsell. It could be licensed to approve any and all package plants outside a city and it could mean the end of all future annexations for cities, she said.

Historically landowners desirous of urban development have annexed to cities because of the sewage cluding Livermore and be "reasonably" shown treatment services. Take

> The regional board's proposal operates on a double standard, said Tirsell. Livermore is restricted from building a larger increment to its seweage treatment plant and from growing by more than 2 per cent a year because of the air pollution in the Valley.

But the regional board's policy doesn't put the same restriction on package plants or even match them off against capacities in the urban plants.

What really annoys Tirsell is that the regional board did not notify Livermore — or apparently any other city in the Bay Area - about the policy, despite its grave land use implica-

BAHAULLAH is the Manifestation of God for this day. BA-HAULLAH is the Promised One of all ages, and came forth in 1863 to set forth the Divine plan for the establishment of The Kingdom of God on Earth.

GOD, through BAHAULLAH, has given to all of humanity a set of specific principles that emphasize:

1. The Oneness of GOD

2. The Oneness of the Prophets 3. The Oneness of humanity

These guiding lights of Divine wisdom will bring all mankind into one world, with one Shepherd, and that Shepherd is BA-HULLAH, the Glory of the Father, the Glory of God.

The Lab does other things, too

So much is made of Lawrence ing bio-medicine, meteorology Livermore Laboratory's involvement with the nuclear arms race that we sometimes lose sight of other LLL endeavors.

A reminder of that came this week with word that the Lab is involved in an experiment in Wyoming that could make huge reserves of coal deep under ground, accessible for energy use.

The Times and various other Bay Area media have kept constant watch on LLL's research and development capabilities in the nuclear arms field. The most recent and notorious case has been the Lab's two-year development of a neutron warhead. No small amount of criticism has been levelled at the facility for its weapons work. It is for others to say if the criticism is well found-

It can't blot out, however, the important scientific work going on at the Lab in other fields, includand energy use.

The current endeavor at Hoe Creek in Wyoming could allow gasification of approximately one trillion tons of coal for commercial energy use.

It involves the drilling of two wells into the coal deposits. The underground coal would be ignited, and resulting gases would rise to the surface where they would be piped away.

That is gross oversimplification. But it is the basis for an experiment that could provide needed fuel in these energy starved times.

In conjunction with this, Lab scientists could point to numerous projects underway aimed at improving fuel efficiency in machines and automobiles.

This kind of research is not as dramatic or highly charged as development of nuclear weapons. But it is vitally important, and it deserves equal mention.

Clean up our act

Country cousins

The hand of big-city bureaucracy has found another "cousin" out here in the

Several months ago Sunol Glen School had a problem with the sprinklers that water the turf and accidentally used more than their allotment— by San Francisco Water Department standards

For this heinous crime and affront to all us water conscious citizens, the school was fined $541. Now the school is having their water allocation cut back "until further notice.

Such action could result in some critical moments this fall and winter if the drought continues

The authority for this act comes directly from city hall...or wherever the San Francisco Water Department's headquarters are.

I can picture some high-paid bureacrat tipping back in his amply-padded executive chair and sniffing "Where the hell is Sunol," as he ponders a penalty for the grave transgression of using too much

You must remember this is the city that had the water pipes flap a year or so back....where city workers refused to fix leaking pipes....and when a non-union sympathizer attempted to do so was beaten bloody

Ah yes, the city that knows how!

In the same vein of bitterly amusing is the current Great County Fair Contract

Only there hasn't been much debate to

On the on hand we have Valerie Raymond and her fellow supervisors prescribing the "tonic" and on the other the fair board testing the "remedy" and gagging.

At the heart of the matter is the makeup of the fair board. The supervisors, with Mrs. Raymond and Fred Cooper in the vanguard, want more control over the entire operation. They believe this can be done, in part, by having 10 supervisorial appointees on the 21-member board.

The directors are willing to go for 10 appointees on a 26-member board. Presumably, the number of appointees would spread representation of the board to all areas and economic and social

We don't doubt that. Whether this would make the board more effective in trying to run a fairgrounds is another matter. For example: The latest appointee of Supervisor John

George, not knowing where the board meetings were held because she had never been to a fair, reportedly called the fairgrounds for directions. Another appointee, as the story goes, lasted for approximately three months, attending one meeting. At that meeting, he registered opinions on every subject that came up from conditions in the stables to the color scheme on water closets, and shortly thereafter resigned. Another, from the former "egg basket" of central county, now and then offers a "second" and a knowledgeable-appearing nod.

Otherwise, no comment.

But, maybe it'll take them a while to get to know the territory.

And the road to Pleasanton.

Gun ownership

Editor, The Times: Sam Fields of the National Coalition to Ban Handguns (NCBH) has treated us to another sample of their thinking (Times, Oct. 14). I note that we have quotes of untraceable "studies" and "data." I invite

Sam to identify his sources of informa-

Sam's "data" that show assaults with handguns are three times more likely to result in death than those with long guns merely indicates the obvious: Handguns are more effective in close quarters (that is why they were invented in the first place). Home defense is necessarily a close quarters situation, so handguns are the logical choice for it. It is the right of every citizen to decide for themselves whether or not they are willing to accept the risk of handgun ownwould like to see applied. If Sam doesn't want a handgun in his home that is his free choice to make, but why does he want to decide the issue for everyone else as

The claim that gun owners supply criminals with weapons is like the argument that muscle car owners supply them with their getaway cars (most getaway cars are freshly stolen vehicles)

The letter closes with the usual appeal to emotionalism, and I also note the editorial propaganda touch in the oversized fuzz-phrase caption ("Handgun a Killer"). The handgun is an inanimate piece of finely crafted metal. People are the

You are entitled to your personal opinion regarding God's People of all colors, but you are not entitled to harass, threaten, or harm people because they disagree with you. You state that Americans of varying complexions are not as intelligent as you, but resist the affirmative action plan which would put it to a test. I think you are the ones filled with fear and you spread it like an uncontrollable epidemic contaminating our democracy with your festering sores of hatred. #### Traffic

Editor, The Times:

I suggest a class action suit against the State of California and the Sierra Club regarding the safety and welfare of commuters on Highway 580 between Dublin and Castro Valley until four lanes are complete as they are from Castro Valley to Oakland and from Pleasanton to Tracy. It is discrimination not to complete the freeway as in these other areas.

An injunction should be obtained against wasting tax money to blacktop over concrete pavement to make four lanes into three. More lanes are always considered safer to drive on - don't eliminate one!

The Sierra Club has no grounds for any suit. The "rape of the land" has been done. Houses have been condemned and torn down along Strowbridge Road which parallels the freeway through Castro If any car has to slow or stop because there are only three lanes, that is a fuelish waste of natural power and time and risk of life - none of which can be replaced! Now let's get on with it and eliminate this seven mile linear parking lot. Victor K. Bailey

Small farms and the law

Announcements by the Department of Interior of intentions to henceforth strictly applY the 160 acre limitations set forth in a 1902 law have prompted proposals by Senator Paul Carpenter for a state senate study of the impact of that policy on California agriculture.

Although the law was enacted to prevent landgrabbing by speculators on what probably than was a valid premise that unrestricted ownership of newly opened federal lands would stifle agriculture, times have long since changed.

Nevertheless the law has remained, a subject of controversy between those who envision "family farms" as the ideal sociology and the hardheaded practical farmers who contend it is unrealistic in the economics of today's farming.

The modern experienced farmers scoff at the references to "family farms" in the sense of small farming. Such concepts, they say, are held only by those who know nothing about farming and don't takes to be successful in a highly competitive agribusiness venture.

Pointing to the disappearance of the chicken ranch, such as once made Petaluma the egg capitol of California, they point out the economics of even the chicken ranch has made small farming unorofitable. Dairy ranches too, once considered suitable for small farming, now require costly equipment and facilities to meet government imposed standards. "I don't think there is a handmilking dairy operation left in the state," an expert in the state's department of agriculture

If the dreams of taking the family to a chicken ranch and enjoying the country life have faded, much more so has small crop farming become impractical as the costs of necessary machinery have run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. "You just can't pay for the kind of equipment you need to make farming profitable unless you have large acreage," agricultural advisors state.

Anyway, many framers contend, small family farming was never that good. "It might have provided a more wholesome setting for raising a family but everybody had to work from sunup to sundown and when the year was through you would be lucky to have enough money to pay the interest on your mortgage." one oldtimer observed.

That a Senate study would be helpful in deter-understand what costs are involved and what it mining the impact of the land limitations appears clear from a glance at the 1974 farm census. It shows there are 50,763 farms in the state with sales of $2500 or more. Of that total only 3234 are 1000 acres or more and only 556 are more than 2000 acres. Yet Department of Agriculture experts say that more than two-thirds of the total agricultural products of the nation are grown on the large farms. With nearly 30,000 farms, or three-fifths of the state's total, being less than 100 acres it would appear that the contentions that small farms are unprofitable are correct.

Of course, what is considered a "small" farm and whether a small farm can be profitable depends a great deal upon what is being grown. A cattle ranch must have huge acreage for grazing. Orchards, which are highly productive and don't require near the costly equipment needed for some field crops, can be profitable on a comparatively small acreage although not the 10 acre plots of vestervear.

It is important that the public be given the facts, whatever they may be, as to what farms produce the food for their tables. It might explode the theory that small farming is of great public benefit. As it stands it is extremely doubtful that many of the 23,000 farms under 50 acres are anything more than "hobby" farms, supported by outside income and held for tax writeoffs.

Ron McNicoll Through the looking glass

It became official recently when I tried on a new pair of eyeglass frames at Marshal Kamena's optical offices in Livermore. They were plastic, just like the ones I got away from in 1968 when I bought the current wire rims that grace my face.

The current wires were quite the thing in the mid - 1960's. I was lucky enough to buy a pair that Kamena had fished, with 30 others, out of an old Bausch and Lomb warehouse. They were made in the early 1930's. Very authentic and they made me look like the 1968 model of John Lennon. As much as I'll ever look like John Lennon.

Wire - rimmed glasses symbolized what the 60's were all about. They looked good with long hair, they recycled metal from bygone days, and they came to be the look of social protest. A whole younger generation was rebelling by looking like their grandparents. The shaggy hair and beards and granny glasses of the 1890's American frontier were being released again by some spectre in the sky to fill out the design of a new American frontier we younger folks were creating.

It was a time of the back to the land movement, an imitation of Thoreau going off into the woods to live deliberately and dropping out of the corrupt military - industrial complex. We were going to establish the republic of true relationships — with the soil; with our bodies, through organically raised food; and with each other, through the laidback rural environment.

The protest worked. We got a better respect for the environment out of more people, we got the U.S. government out of the Vietnamese civil war, and we even got realtors and insurance salesmen wearing long hair and wire rim glasses. To be sure, they are copies of the real thing, but the influence is there. As the bumper sticker says, "Some hippie died for your shag haircut."

There was a lot of satisfaction in not looking like our parents' generation. We were Tom Sawyer telling Aunt Polly we aren't gonna wash today. We not only did our own thing, we had the satisfaction of getting Aunt Polly to revert to type as an old crumudgeon.

There even was the illusion that the counterculture would establish its own Woodstock Nation within a nation. But on Dec. 7, 1969, the Woodstock generation met its Pearl Harbor at Altamont when one person was stabbed and three others died in various accidents among 200,000 counterculturals. It was a timeless lesson. People can't drift on in euphoria and think everything will be all right without having some understandings among themselves about the dark side of human nature. It's too bad the Demorcratic Republic of Do Your Own Thing never got off the ground. It still lives on in islands, though. It had an impact that even the Bakke case and Aunt Polly won't eradicate from society. I'm glad I helped create it with writing, political activism and my wire - rimmed

Speaking of the Bakke case, news stories say he was rejected by the UC Davis Medical School because of his age (32 at the time), not because of "minority quotas." Less qualified whites than he were admitted. Bakke should drop his case and file an age discrimination suit, since that really is the fact of the case. He could also do us all a favor and challenge the whole notion of quotas in the medical profession. Maybe we'd get more doctors and lower fees that way.

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I know you're married to a doctor so I thought you might be helpful. We were pleased when our daughter married a doctor. but over the past 10 years we've seen a great deal of misery in that family. My daughter tries not to burden us but I know that her marriage is not a happy one. Her husband's a busy, successful man but he seems to care nothing for his family. He comes home at all hours and when he takes vacation time, he never spends it with his wife. She tells me that while she may not be happy, her friends who are also married to doctors have more complaints than she. In contrast, she says, her marriage looks good. Is this typical? — B.P.

DEAR B.P. I can't say what's "typical," but I know many doctors of both sexes who have happy, successful marriages. Incidentally, I consider my own marriage to be as fulfilling and rewarding as I could wish. Of course, there and her marriage better. are problems and many compromises must be made. The medical profession is demanding. There are long hours and in some specialties, there is an almost constant emotional drain. Many times, wives of doctors seek professional therapy. This would certainly be beneficial for your daughter.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm an 18-year-old with a girl friend I really like. If we were left alone, we'd be fine but her ultra-chick parents think they're the last word in terms of being sexually liberated. They're always trying to show they're into every new fad that comes along but they're really ridiculous. They keep pushing super drug. butt out. — S.W.

DEAR S.W.: I agree no one should be pressured in a matter as private as sex, but I'm sure you can understand that many parents today are confused about what their attitude should be. First of all, studies indicate that many youngsters do not "know the score" in sexual matters.

Teenage pregnancies are still a major health problem for society as a whole, and for young mothers and infants. I'm aware that ignorance is not always the reason behind teenage pregnancy. For many girls and boys, a baby becomes living proof that they've made it sexually and is used as a kind of status symbol. Others become pregnant to get back at their parents or to prove to them that they're no longer

The answer to this problem is certainly not to do what your girl friend's parents are doing. Accept the fact that they've made an error in judgment and that you and your girl friend don't spend weekends together. may, in this matter, be wiser Neither of us want this kind of and more mature than they.

your column on "Cholesterol Can Be Confusing" you stated fish, chicken and red meats all contain about 70 milligrams per 100 grams (three-and-a-half ounces). In some articles on foods for people to eat while dieting chicken is mentioned as "A Dieter's Delight." Would you please comment on the value of chicken?

DEAR READER - Since a well-balanced diet should contain either fish, chicken or red meats it is important to realize they all contain cholesterol. That doesn't mean that you can't use these foods. It means that you shouldn't squander your daily cholesterol allotment on high cholesterol foods that would cause you to have to overly restrict these important food

Chicken and young turkeys are both good for a diet. Why? Because the low fat pieces provide a good source of protein while not adding fat calories to your diet. It is the fat content here that we are interested in, not the cholesterol. The light meat without the skin and fat is a very low fat food, 100 grams of the raw flesh of fryer chicken (no skin or bone) contains only 100 calories. Of course you must not add fat in preparing it. A whole pound of the raw light meat only would only give you 454 calories one calorie per gram - and at the same time provide more than 90 grams of good protein. The small amount of fat in lean chicken also contains a

DEAR DR. LAMB - In reasonable amount of polyunsaturated fat and a limited amount of saturated fat. Half of the battle in preparing a non-fattening diet is how you select and prepare foods. DEAR DR. LAMB - My granddaughter is 18 months old and is having trouble cutting her teeth. Her parents rub whiskey on her gums occasionally when they seem to bother her a lot. I am not sure this is a very good idea. What do you think? Do you have any suggestions as to what else could be tried? DEAR READER - It is an age old problem. Some children do have difficult eruption. The gingiva (gums) may become inflamed at the area and sometimes there will be a mild infection under a flap of the gingival tissue over the erupting tooth.

Rubbing whiskey on the surface will not help. It isn't enough to be absorbed and act as a general anesthetic and I wouldn't recommend that anyway. It won't help the localized infection if there is one either.

The time-honored practice of using a hard blunt object to chew on - a teething object is still recommended. Also it is wise to keep the mouth clean. If there is an area of inflammation local treatment by the baby's doctor might be helpful.

The only value in rubbing whiskey on the area is to make the parents feel they have tried to do something. That, too, is sometimes important.

We make two clubs the last choice. Even if we find a 4-4 spade fit, we may make as many tricks at notrump as at spades. Pass is our second choice. We have nine points but they are just about the worst possible. Still, we do have nine points and therefore recommend a raise to two notrump.

Our best choice is the winner here. South will go on to three and should bring it in. Here is the play against a diamond lead. South wins with dummy's

Moped bowling opens

Stockton's Betty Morris highlights a top flight group of woman bowlers seeking to take home the championship as the Dublin '40' Bowl Excel Moped Open begins tomorrow morning at 9 a.m.

Val-

tion

The tourney, which has drawn entrants from throughout the West, is the first of its kind in the valley.

Morris, who has won 12 national titles is also a five-time All-American and was chosen Woman Bowler of the Year in 1974. Her acheivements include five sanctioned 300 games and a whopping 799 three-game series.

Some of the best woman keglers in the nation will contest Morris for the title, including Vesma Grinfelds of San Francisco, Virginia Norton of Southgate, Donna Adamek of Monrovia and Bev Ortner of Tucscon. All were named to the All-American team this year.

A total of 136 ladies are entered in the event, with professional competition slated to begin at 9 a.m. The field is divided into two squads. The 'A' squad will bowl its six games beginning at 9 a.m. with the 'B' squad bowlers following immediately, at approximately noon.

The 'A' squad will begin its second set at 3 p.m. while the 'B' group returns at 6

The field will be narrowed down to the top ten from Saturday's games and those teams will begin round-robin match play at 10 a.m. Sunday. Those ten games will determine the finalists, who will bowl a stair-step elimination finals, scheduled to begin at 3 p.m.

Each finals match will consist of just one game. The first game will feature the fifth place qualifier against the fourth-place woman with the winner meeting the third place finisher and so on, until a champion is determined after four matches.

The finals will be taped for television and are scheduled to be shown on cable channel 10 at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and on cable channel six in Newark during the week some time.

The management of Dublin Bowl, citing the fact that the event will be the first in valley keg history, has opted not to charge admission.

A pro-am, open to local bowlers will provide the chance for amateurs to pair up with the pros. Pro-am squads are slated for noon Friday and Saturday night at 9 p.m. A special junior pro-am goes at 4 p.m. Friday.

An added-money purse of $7168 will be up for grabs when the 136 distaffers go to the post over the weekend.

As a good for laughs sidelight, a celebrity pro-am event will be played Saturday night, with ex-Oakland Raider Ben Davidson topping the cast that falls off through other ex-jocks and their wives to sports writers and disc jockeys.

Betty Morris follows through in practice for Dublin Bowl event.

Bay Meadows handicap Martin has an starts today — page 13 early letdown

NEW YORK — It should have been the happiest moment of Billy Martin's life, his first world championship as a manager, but the peppery little skipper of the New York Yankees was having trouble rising to the occasion.,

"I'm not trying to be subdued," Martin said Thursday in the wake of the Yankees' first world title in 15 years. "I'm just flat out tired, but nobody believes me."

Although 1977 produced a World Series triumph after 1976 ended in a disappointing fourgame sweep at the hands of the Cincinnati Reds, Martin insisted that the just-completed baseball season was "3,000 times tougher than last yea."

The reason, of course, was the perpetual turmoil surrounding the Yankees during which Martin was almost fired on five separate occasions, only to surface as the world champion manager with a vote of confidence from management plus a hefty bonus and a swanky automobile.

"Every where I've gone, I've had to live down a so-called reputation." he said. "Now they'll have a helluva time finding a reputation for me, won't they. I'll be like Abraham Lincoln — find out what he's drinking and give it to the other managers.

"As a player you're out there doing your part and helping your team. But as a manager, you're up there at bat with every player, and as a manager you've got so many other things you're doing as you read this summer.

"There were times I was as low as a person can get. But I never walk out on Yankee fans. This may sound strange, but I'm a great lover of Jesus Christ. When I get down I go to church, light a can- cast on the right hand for three dle and come back strong.

Benson punch Jabbar fined $5,000

LOS ANGELES - Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Los Angeles Lakers' superstar center who suffered a broken bone in his right hand when he knocked down Milwaukee rookie Kent Benson, was fined a record $5,000 by the National Basketball Association Thursday and will be sidelined for three weeks, the Lakers announced.

NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien levied the stiff fine, the largest in league history, for the incident that occurred Tuesday night in the season opener at Milwaukee.

Dr. Herbert Stark, an orthopedic surgeon, examined AbdulJabbar's injury, and a statement released by Dr. Robert Kerlan, team physican, said Kareem would have to wear a weeks. The injury was not as bad as first believed, according to the doc-

Another examination will be made after three weeks, and Abdul-Jabbar probably will wear a protective device to let him play while the hand fin-ishes healing, Dr. Kerlan said.

"Kareem is eager to play right now, but we feel that because it is just the beginning of the season and we want to make sure that his hand heals perfectly ... it would be unwise to risk playing now," Dr. Kerlan said.

In New York, O'Brien said in levying the fine, "I had decided that immediate suspension was appropriate until I received news yesterday (Wednesday) of Abdul-Jabbar's injury. That development limited my options and consequently I decided on this fine."

While the defense held explosive Phoenix and Seattle teams to just 184 points in two games, the running game, featuring Charles Dudley, Sonny Parker, Rick Barry and Phil Smith came into its own in the late stages of Wednesday's first half.

With a combination of Charles Johnson's defense and five personal fouls limiting Seattle's early hot hand, Fred Brown, the Warriors outscored Seattle, 85-52, after the 6:43 mark of the second quarter.

Reggie overlooked Dodger chance

NEW YORK — If Reggie Jackson's crystal ball had forecast the tumult and tension of the 1977 Yankees, he would have been wearing Dodger Blue in the World Series.

'If I had known what kind of year it was going to be, I would have gone to San Diego or Los Angeles, probably Los Angeles," said Jackson Thursday. Do you think I would have come here? I wouldn't wish that on anybody.

"I never really talked to the Dodgers. I didn't give them that courtesy. I should have. But Steinbrenner was around all the time and put too much pressure on me.'

Jackson was referring to George Steinbrenner, the owner of the Yankees whose super selling job - and $2.9 million check for five years - brought last year's free-agent prize to New

EBAL's 4th week

Will Dublin be the spoiler?

Several key contests highlight this week's East Bay Athletic League football schedule tonight and tomor-Tonight undefeated Livermore

(3-0) hosts Dublin (2-1) in prehaps the biggest game of the week. Monte Vista, the league's other unbeaten team, travels to Foothill for a game with the Falcons (0-3) and San Ramon (2-1) hosts Amador Valley (2-1) in a must-win game for both teams. Tomorrow California (0-3) hosts Granada (0-3) at 1 p.m. DUBLIN-LIVERMORE

'We have to play a balanced game. There's no question about that," said Dublin coach Wayne Re about the

'If we just start throwing the ball their line will come right at us," he went on. "They're pretty quick up front and are very hard to score on."

The Gaels used their running game

"We were trying to establish our running game then," Re commented. "Batchelor has come along really well and is in top form right now."

On defense the Gaels will have to stop the Cowboys' explosive veer offense led by quarterback Naish Piazza. Piazza is a wizard with the ball and is also an adapt passer when he has to be.

However, the Cowboys generally keep the ball on the ground with Pete Martinez leading the way. Other top ballcarriers for the 'Pokes are Frank Brown, Steve Culy and Piazza.

But the Cowboys' greatest strength is their defense. Livermore's defensive line is prehaps the best and most balanced unit in the entire East Bay Area. Outside of an opening-game 20-17 loss to Castro Vally the Livermore defenders have given up 14 points on the season. The only other touchdown scored against the Cowboys came on a turnover by the offense.

AMADOR VALLEY-SAN RAMON

That's what Amador Valley head coach Duffy Dufour said about his team's necessity to stop the Wolves' outstanding quarterback Guy Hous-

"We'll have to get to him quickly and also control the ball," Dufour went on. "They probably have the best passing attack of any team we've faced this season." Houston has completed 35 of 55 attempts for a 63.6 average and 402 yards in EBAL play. He's also thrown five touchdown passes. The only teams to slow down the Wolves' passing attack this season have been Livermore and Oak Grove of San

But ball-control is the key for the Dons, according to Dufour.

"We have to have ball control and not turn the ball over inside the 10-yard line," Dufour remarked. "We're aiming to score three touchdowns and gain 300 yards total of-fense in one game this year and we havn't done it yet. But we're getting closer.'

Colds have hit some of the Amador Valley players this week, including "If you give him time they'll score starting tailback Mike Hoff. All-

EBAL defensive back Rob Flores will start in his place. Flores has gained 80 yards in EBAL play.

Both teams stack up fairly evenly in the offensive and defensive lines, the "pits as they are often referred to. Amador does have a slight advantage in size and depth.

> MONTE VISTA-FOOTHILL

Monte Vista has been the surprise team of the EBAL season so far and quarterback Bart Adams has been the main reason.

Adams is ranked second in the league passing statistics with 15 completions in 28 attempts for 188 yards and just one interception. He is also fourth in the league in rushing with 170 yards, 106 of those coming against Granada last week.
Phil Bevis adds balance to the Mustang running game with 77 yards in 21 attempts for a 3.67 average.

Speaking of balance Monte Vista is third in the EBAL on offense and fourth in defense. They are second in the league in rushing with 531 yards. However, the Falcons have shown improvement.

On Sports

When the summer of 1978 comes along Bay Area sports fans will be faced with an abundance of professional teams to choose from.

With the additions of the Oakland Stompers to the North American Soccer League there will be two NASL teams, two major league baseball clubs and the San Jose Sunbirds women's softball team.

The question is can the Bay Area support all these teams?

Milan Mandaric

Past history shows that it can't. Unfortunately, one or more of the teams may have to leave the area. This feeling has been expressed by many sportwriters and other followers of the Bay Area sports scene in recent years.

But the question is who will leave the area? In recent weeks there have been rumors that the Oakland A's may leave the area, possibly for New Orleans. But apparently that's all it's been, ru-

Despite the A's dismal showing this past season it's hard to forget that they're the only Northern California team to win THREE straight world championships. There's no reason why the A's won't eventually return to their past glories, giving time and the gradual rebuilding of the franchise.

However, by then it may be too late. Most people in baseball circles dont' think the Bay Area can support two baseball teams and they are probably right, particuarly with two soccer teams now in the

The Giants drew just a bit over 700,000 this past season (despite many promotions and the comeback of Willie McCovey) and the A's didn't even reach the 500,000 mark.

A good case could be made that the people who follow soccer might never have attended a baseball game. The same thing goes for baseball fans.

But a sports fan is a sports fan. If a person likes most sports he (or she) is likely to attend all kinds of them, including both soccer and baseball. Here arises the great conflict.

The Oakland Stompers feel they will eventually be able to fill the Oakland Coliseum with 50,000 fans. With the expected expansion of Spartan Stadium the San Jose Earthquakes should draw 30,000 a

The same can't be said of the Giants and A's. With the great rise in popularity of soccer in this country the Giants and A's would be hard put to draw a million fans in a season.

Lakewood; Marge Bradford, Simi Valley; Bobbie Castro; Gail Danli, Millbrae; Pat Dolphin, Yucaipa; Pam Douglass, El Monte; Pam Drumel, San Diego; Helen Duval, Berkeley; Suzy Engel, Los Angeles; Zola Gar-rett, Los Angeles: Nancy Gentry. Giant owner Bob Lurie feels a million fans is a necessity for him to stay in operation on a steady basis. The same probably holds tru true for the A's. One problem facing the two baseball clubs is that cisco; Jerry Guest; Karen Gustavsen, they play more games than soccer teams do. As a result, each soccer match is worth more on a team's record than each baseball game is. This creates interest among the fans. In baseball, particuarly if the teams are not in the running for the pennant, the late summer games have virtually no meaning to the fans. Not so with soccer games. Even if a team is in last place in its division, like the Earthquakes were entering the last month of the 1977 season, it can still make up the difference because each game counts more and the point system offers another opportunity. Thus, you have excitement throughout the bulk of the soccer season.

Former Earthquake and new Stomper owner Milan Mandaric feels both San Jose and Oakland can succeed in soccer.

If that is so, then it could well come at the expense of one, or possibly both, of the Bay Area baseball teams.

The Bay Area's population is begining to even out and people are more into individual sports than spectuator athletics nowadays. Five years from now it's very doubtful that two baseball and two soccer teams will still be playing Sunday.

in the Bay Area. At least one of the teams will have gone down for the final count.

Laney College football team, sparked by former Pinole Valley High School quarterback Mark Dent. hosts Chabot College in a key Golden Gate Conference game tonight at 7:30

Laney, which has suprised most of the so-called "expert" by building a 3-1 record in GGC play, is tied for the loop lead with San Mateo and DeAnza. Chabot is also in the thick of the title race with a 2-1 record.

The Gladiators are going strong now after a slow start. They have won their last two games after losing to DeAnza 17-0 in the GGC

Both teams feature explosive, open offensives.

Dent has a winning tradition, having led Pinole Valley to two straight North Coast Section 4-A cham-

Greg Corallo clinched the match with a 6-7, 6-2, 7-5 win over Pete Lamson as Granada's tennis team moved into the upper division of the East Bay Athletic League tennis standings with a 4-3 win over San Ramon yesterday in Livermore.

The win gives the Mats an even 6-6 record in EBAL play, tieing them with SR for fourth place.

In another announcement yesterday, the EBAL reversed the controversial forfeit handed to Dublin by Monte Vista Tuesday and let the Mustangs' 7-0 win and perfect season re-

Dublin called the forfeit when Mustang coach Floyd Baker showed up 15 minutes late for the match because of a commitment to a history class he teaches at Monte Vista. But it was later found that nothing in the EBAL or United States Lawn Tennis Association rules, by which the teams follow, permits forfeits to be called. The coaches had earlier decided this year that 3:15 would be forfeit time, but they have failed to enforce the rule in most cases where teams have shown up

Craig Johnson ran for four touchdowns as Amador Valley easily defeated San Ramon, 32-8, in a frosh football game last night.

Johnson scored on runs of 15, 26, 4, and 16 yards and accumulated 175 yards rushing. Amador quarterback Josh Shinnick scored the Don's other touchdown and also passed for 175 yards.

In another frosh football game, Foothill remained undefeated, edging Monte first half.

The Falcons won the game on a six-yard pass from Gary Kovac to Scott Reid with only 5:40 left. David Cruz carried the ball 12 times for 50 yards to lead Foothill's offense.

Chuck Lennier rushed for three touchdowns and 149 yards to lead Granada past California, 33-0.

CHICAGO, Ill. — Toyota, the nation's leading import, day unveiled its 1978 models, including a fully redetoday unveiled its 1978 models, including a fully redesigned Celica and an all-new top-of-the line Cressida.

The Celica and Cressida are the stars of Toyota's 30-model lineup for 1978, the widest selection of cars and trucks in Toyota's history

This new model introduction coincides with our twentieth anniversary as an American Company," said Norman D. Lean, vice president-general operations for Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc.

'We're proud to be observing the occasion with the highest quality cars and trucks in our history.

In addition to the three Celicas and two Cressidas, Toyota's 1978 models include 10 economical Corollas, four practical Coronoas, eight trucks and two fourwheel-drive Land Cruisers.

"Our new Celicas are designed to combine advanced aerodynamic styling with the economy and sporty performance which has made Celica so popular," Lean said. The three Celicas, the ST Sport Coupe, GT Sport Coupe and GT Liftback, retain the Celica's traditional sportiness while offering functional design improvements. Inside the new Celica, driver and passenger comfort have been significantly improved by increasing front seat shoulder room and rear seat headroom. Lumbar support and seat tilt features have been added to the GT models, permitting a wider range of driving positions. New features in the Liftback include sepaeately folding split rear seatbacks and remote release levers for the rear hatch and fuel filler door. Exterior highlights include greater glass area along with a lower line to give the models a more sleek appearance and increased driving visibility.

A sloping hoodline and extended horizontal surfaces improve the cars' aerodynamic efficiency, resulting in better fuel economy as well as increased stability in

Powered by Toyota's rugged 2.2-liter engine, the new Celicas have fully transistorized breakerless ignition and standard five-speed overdrive manual transmission

Available Celica options include mag-type aluminum alloy wheels (available on G T models), power steering and a sliding sunroof. The sunroof option is available immediately on the Liftback and will arrive on the Sport Coupe models early in 1978.

An optional three-speed automatic transmission is available on the ST Sport Coupe and the GT Liftback. New at the top of Toyota's model line is the elegant fered as standard equipment, the Cressida is in a class with several higher-priced European luxury cars," Lean

Available in 4-door sedan and 5-door wagon versions, the Cressida is powpred by a 6-cylinder, 2.6 liter engine, and offers a host of luxury items as standard equipment, including an all-new four-speed overdrive automatic transmission, air conditioning, power steering and AM/FM multiplex three-speaker radio.

The Cressida's unique four-speed automatic is a new advanced engineering design offering both improved fuel economy and acceleration.

Fourth gear in the Cressida is an overdrive gear, permitting the engine to operate at a signficantly lower rpm, resulting in better fuel economy at highway speeds. The transmission also substantially decreases engine wear. Lean said the Cressida will be marketed on a limited volume basis in 1978.

Following are other highlights of Toyota's 1978 mod-

COROLLA

The Corolla 2-door sedan continues to be Toyota's fuel economy and price leader for 1978. At a suggested retail price of $3,048, the full-sized subcompact Corolla is powered by a 1.2-liter fourcylinder engine and achieved 46 miles per gallon in EPA highway tests and 34 m.p.g. in

In California, the 2-door sedan is powered by a larger 1.6-liter engine to meet stricter emission requirements. Mileage for this model varies from the 1.2-liter version. Both versions include such standard features as power front disc brakes, four-speed manual transmission, MacPherson strut front suspension, styled-steel wheels, high-back bucket seats, transistorized ignition and power-boosted flow-through ventilation. The 1.2- and 1.6-liter Corolla sedans are also available in custom 2 - and 4-door models, which feature a fivespeed overdrive manual transmission and steel-belted raidal tires.

There are several other '78 Corolla models to choose from, including Liftbacks, Sport Coupes, 2-door sedans, 4-door sedans and 5-door wagons. All are powered by a 1.6-liter, four-cylinder engine.

Most Corollas include arpeting, electric rear window defogger, steel-belted radial tires and are available with four-speed manual, five-speed overdrive manual or automatic transmission.

Toyota Corolla Sport Coupe has standard five-speed transmission

All Liftbacks and Sport Coupes have the five-speed transmission as standard equipment.

CORONA The popular Corona includes expanded availability of the popular Luxury Edition package, introduced last year on the Corona 4-door deluxe sedan.

The Luxury Edition, which includes such items as AM/FM Multiplex 3-speaker radio, luxury seat fabrics and matching door trim, is available for 1978 on Corona 5-door wagons equipped with five-speed or automatic

Also included in the Luxury Edition package are padded steering wheel, luxury full wheel covers, wide body side molding and bright side window frame moldings. All Luxury Edition Coronas are equipped with separately priced power steering. All 1978 Coronas are powered by a rugged and economical 2.2-liter, four-cylinder engine.

PICKUP TRUCK

To meet the increasing demand for half-ton minitrucks, Toyota has added a new long-bed price leader to its popular line of deluxe standard - and long-bed models and SR-5 Sport Trucks. All models feature a rugged suspension components are double-acting rear shocks, a large diameter front stablizier bar and heavy front coil and light rear leaf

All models except the SR-5 Sport Trucks have a forward-tilting bench seat for easy access to the storage area behind the seat. The Sport Trucks have high-back bucket seats.

Seven new exterior colors are avilable for 1978, and a new blue interior is offered with certain exterior colors. Both the standard-bed and the new long-bed base models are equipped with four-speed manual transmission as standard equipment. An automatic transmission is availabe on some models.

Two special cab and chassis untis are also offered for 1978 for commercial or camper application. LAND CRUISER

Toyota's rugged four-wheel-drive Land Cruiser is available in a hardtop or 4-door station wagon version for

The two models are powered by a 4.2 liter, six-cylinder engine and are equipped with a four-speed manual transmission, power front disc brakes, steel skid plates, twospeed transfer case, locking gas cap covers and protective body undercoating.

Other features on the hardtop include flip-out rearquarter windows for improved ventilation, an enlarged outside rear-view mirror and a lightweight, tubular-design spare-tire carrier.

Since then the situation has remained basically the same. Devendorf and his Sun/Moon-sponsored B-210 have continued to dominate the Racing Stock sedan class, and as the season moves into its final few weeks, looks almost assured of a championship

Posey has had a harder time. He drives a Z car for Bob Sharp Racing and has found some very stiff com-petition coming from the Porsche side. But, things still look good for another Datsun championship in the IMSA GTU category.

As this was written Posey and Devendorf had just come off second place fin-ishes at Road Atlanta and were headed for a return engagement at Mid-America Raceway outside St. Louis on September 25. Then it is on to Laguna Seca, near Monterey, California, on October 9. The season finale, and the race that may decide the GTU championship, will be at Daytona International Speedway on November 27. Of course the Posey/Devendorf IMSA effort isn't Datsun's only racing activity this season. There are several other strong year," Roberts concludes.

New engine for El Camino

The sporty Chevrolet El Camino pickup debuts in 1978 as a new highly styled and lighter weight vehicle emphasizing fuel efficiency and utility.

This year, the spare tire is carried under the pickup box floor and is accessible from inside the vehicle.

El Camino has greater interior space this year, air dam, sport mirros, special black painted grille.

Black is highlighted on the quarter window moldings.

Super Sport highlights include decals, large front air dam, sport mirros, special black painted grille.

El Camino has undergone its most redesign ever. It is nearly a foot shorter and 600 pounds lighter, but has no reduction in cargo capacity. It also offers a V6 engine.

There are three versions of El Camino in 1978, the base model, a Super Sport and a two-tone paint option, Conquista.

New styling includes a new roofline, small side quarter windows and a wraparound rear window. The front features single rectangular headlights. comes with automatic Times comics.

Chrysler breaks RV sale record

Chrysler Corporation today reported record recreational vehicle sales for the 12 months ending Sept. 30, up nearly two per cent from the record sales of the year ago period. Robert H. Kline, Chrysler's manager of RV sales, said sales for the period were 95,966 compared with 94,393 for the period last year.

"Our long range plans - formulated after talking with the major RV body builders — is for continued growth in the RV market," he said.

Chrysler is the major supplier of RV chassis, a position the company has enjoyed since the beginning of the motor home industry.

"The Administration's energy plans caused some uneasiness in the market place earlier this year, but we don't feel regulations or the prize of gasoline will dampen the enthu-siasm for motor homes," Kline said. "Recreation has become part of the lifestyle in America."

"As long as there are highways, there will be motor homes manufactured and purchased to travel on them" Kline said; "and we will continue to be an important part of the manufacturing chain."

Dodge built the first motor home chassis in 1958 and pioneered the front section chassis for mini motor homes in 1971. Dodge was also the first to offer the dual rear wheel front section in 1972.

Dodge front section chassis range from the 109 inch wheelbase introduced in 1975 for smaller, more fuel efficient units, to the new 163 inch wheelbase model.

"Our addition of a new motor home chassis - the fourth in four years demonstrates Dodge's continued faith in the RV market and reflects our commitment to provide the RV industry with the range of products they need to serve their customers," Kline said.

The Jaycees, who hope to raise $2000 to $3000 with the project, expect to complete "the world's safest haunted house" for a Saturday night opening, according to past-president Gib Souza.

The Haunted House is located this year in the Arcade Shopping Center, First and P Streets, Livermore — a change from its former location at the Barn.

Problems began for the Jaycees when, according to Souza, "we wanted to get the building and fire inspector" to check on the safety of the house. "They came out," he added, "and stamped it reject."

Souza said that building inspector Herb Ellis and fire prevention officer Dave O'Connor "have been helping us out" to make sure the project will be safe by Saturday night. "They were just doing their job," he said. "and that's exactly what we asked them to do."

The main objections city officials had to the house, according to Ellis, were centered around possible dangers of fire and panic situations.

"They had stretched black plastic and paper over a framework without any solid backing," explained Ellis. "It was not well-constructed," he added, and could have resulted in a "dangerous fire situation."

Ellis said that in the event of fire, "the materials could have burned rapidly," and "in a panic situation," the frame work might have been torn down by children and possibly could have "trapped them all in there."

"The combustibility of the decoration material" was also a concern, according to O'Connor. Other problems included the "lack of exit signs" and the "electrical installation," which O'Connor described as "questionable."

The Haunted House sprinkler system, to be used in case of fire, might have been blocked by the "improvised ceiling" consisting of black plastic, O'Connor added.

Jaycee members John Arguello, who co-chaired the Haunted House project, and president Pat Palty met with O'Connor and Ellis Thursday morning to decide exactly how the house should be fixed, according to O'Connor.

'There shouldn't be any hold-up on the project," O'Connor added. He said the fire department should be issuing a permit to the group Saturday morning to give the green light after the second fire department inspection.

Ellis said he plans to inspect the house again late Friday afternoon.

Street said the Jaycees had agreed to "remove the plastic and paper materials" and brace the walls and framework, adding sheetrock to strengthen the structure.gJaycees will also be making all the decorations flame-retardant, he added. 'We don't anticipate any problems now. They know what needs to be done, and we expect to have a safe haunted house."

The group will have to spend an extra $350 to $500 to make the house safe, according to Gib Souza, but members will be transporting materials and "working hard" to do it.

Jaycees had planned to work on the house, "all night if we need," to complete the project, according to member Dick Jones.

The Haunted House, he said, is "one of the biggest" fundraisers for the Jaycees — and "we've got to salvage it." The Jaycees, Jones said, "handle between $50,000 and $70,000 annually." The group runs all their The group spends "50 per cent of our time raising money" for projects in the area, he added. "We don't expect to lose money on this," Jones said, but the Jaycees do intend to make it a success.

The House, which was originally scheduled to open Friday night, will open on Sauturday from 7 to 11 p.m. The Haunted House will also be open Oct. 23 and 24, and Oct. 28-31 from 7 to 11 p.m. On Saturday, Oct. 29, a special daytime showing is planned from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Admission to the house is $1, and it will be "the world's safest haunted house," says Souza.

County and retirement limits

OAKLAND — Alameda County will allow its employes to work to age 70, or even beyond, provided that annually their supervisors week. certify they still are physically and mentally able to do a good job.

A new state law requires the county to shift its work rules to allow that, County Administrator Loren Enoch told supervisors.

But it did raise one doubt in the mind of Supervisor Fred Cooper. He was concerned that the county will hire people at age 60 and if they wind up with full disability problems, the county will have to pay for it out of the retirement system.

Cooper estimated, off the top of his head, that the retirement system may have to go up another $1.8 million a year to take care of such eventualities.

Supervisor Valerie Raymond tried to point out the bright side of the change. If employes pass up retirement at age 65, they won't be drawing from the retire-ment fund for a few more

In any case, the county won't make any new hires of anyone over age 67, said Enoch.
